

If used in this report, the term “the Company” is in reference to The Lood Company, and its associates, unless the context clearly indicates otherwise.

Summary

October was slow as the project focused on revisions to the core business model. Which is now focused on adult blockchain game development. Specifically referring to LOOD integration into Triple X Tycoon. There has also been a pause on the bounty campaign as there are funding limitations when considering the extremely high gas fees required to disburse the tokens to those who participated.

More information regarding this issue will be provided as we seek more practical alternatives like Polygon among others.
